Commenting on youth of today and their different movements, he said, "The movements are good if they're good in the right direction."

Nellie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Parker, have had as much determination and drive through the years as their courageous daughter. They boosted her moral and spotted her talent when she was seven years old.

Also in the audience was Miss Ruby Teems, Nellie Faye's great-aunt who first taught her to paint by holding a brush in her teeth.

When the late George Beach was president of the Lion's Club he donated brushes and paint. Many in this nation are wonderful and generous. One anonymous donor read her story in the Atlanta paper and responded to her needs because he could and had the gifts of love for mankind.

The list continues of generous, time giving, patient people who cared, such as Mrs. Alice Howard, who purchased materials with money supplied by donors and the Lions. Clarence Day of the Day Association in Columbus, Mississippi, heard of Nellie Faye and through many time consuming efforts of Mrs. Marie Vaughan and others, persuaded Mr. Day that his donation was greatly needed. He challenged the Lions for them to raise $500, which he would then match with the same.

Then came the help of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner. Mr. Turner worked in the Vocational Rehabilitation Center for the ANA. With their efforts they instructed her in the art she had picked up in Warm Springs. Mrs. Turner realized that Nellie Faye had exceptional talent and imaginability. Mr. Turner was able to furnish the signs on the highway and at her studio. The Pilot Club of Cartersville aided in sending her to Warm Springs.

Nellie Faye began painting with numbered pictures, but her talent surpassed them and she added her own creations. In 1961 she had her first exhibit in Cartersville.

Mrs. Marie Vaughan presented the Nellie Faye Parker Story.

2,484 students city school system

By BILL WADKINS

Student enrollment in the Cartersville School system totaled 2,484 at the end of first-week classes, Superintendent Ray Hill reported during a meeting of the School Board Monday night.

Just under 22 per cent of this number are Negro students, he said. The Cartersville schools this fall began operating as a totally integrated system.

Most of Monday's meeting was comprised of discussion of administrative matters in connection with the beginning of the new school term. Mr. Hill stated that although a few problems have arisen during the transition to a fully integrated system, the new school year got underway relatively smoothly. The superintendent and board members expressed their appreciation to teachers and parents "for the patience they have exercised during the first few days of school."

Harris completes training

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Robert L. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Harris of Rt. 1, Old Ala. Road, Cartersville, Ga., has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

The board approved three staff recommendations offered by Mr. Hill. They are Mrs. Grace Bailey, elementary, educable mentally retarded; Mrs. Ronald Evans, junior high, mathematics, one-half time; and Mrs. Julia Ware, junior high, educable mentally retarded.

The board also directed the superintendent to determine and establish opening and closing hours for the school system. Some children, it was pointed out, are being brought to the schools as early as 7:00 in the morning and being picked up as late as 5:00 in the afternoon. Often children arrive long before doors are unlocked and supervisory personnel arrive, Mr. Hill said.

Supt. Hill reported that steps have been taken at the elementary school to eliminate deficiencies cited under the new Georgia standards which went into effect last year. Inadequacies listed for exit lights, panic hardware on doors and space facilities have been corrected and all schools should be deemed "standard" this year, he said.

In other business, Supt. Hill advised that security campus fencing has been completed at the high school, junior high school and at the old School Board office building at a cost of $2100 by the Marietta Fence Company. The August financial report was reviewed and approved.

Present were Mr. Hill and board members Frank Harris, John Conyers, Bill Green, Alex Dent and Thomas Chapman.

School Board hikes tuition

BY BILL WADKINS

The Cartersville School Board Monday night voted to increase tuition costs for students residing outside of the city limits and attending classes in city schools from $15 per month to $23.

The $23 figure is "per family" and not "per student", the board pointed out. Board members said the increase will bring the amount paid for students living outside the city to a figure "in keeping with per pupil expenditure by the city." The tuition cost, despite the increase, will remain lower than that charged in surrounding counties, Supt. Ray Hill said.

In other action, the board opened milk bids from three area suppliers and Beatrice Foods Co. (Tro-fe Meadow Gold Dairy) was adjudged apparent low bidder. Bids also were submitted by Atlanta Dairies and Dempsey Brothers Dairies, Inc. Final acceptance of the Tro-fe bid is conditional, pending a double check by board members to verify the accuracy of computations they made Monday night in determining the low bid.

A delegation representing the Georgia Raiders semi-professional football team appeared before the board to request permission to use the Cartersville High School football field and physical education facilities during the upcoming season. The delegation was headed by Fred Bartlett of the Shrines Club, which would sponsor the Raiders here.

The board said the request will be taken under consideration and a decision made after consultations with the attorney for the school board and with the Georgia School Building Authority.

Tommy Dial, assistant basketball coach and physical education coach at the primary school, was named head basketball coach for Cartersville High School. Dial succeeds coach Charles Reeves, who recently resigned.

The board approved the July financial report and announced the following school opening dates: Principals and other administrative personnel report Monday, Aug. 19; teachers report Monday, Aug. 26; first official day of school, Thursday, Aug. 29; second official day of school, Tuesday, Sept. 3.

Superintendent Ray Hill submitted and the board approved an outline of professional responsibilities for J. Stanley Morgan, Jr., who will begin new duties as director of program planning for the city school system. Morgan previously served as principal of Summer Hill School. His new responsibilities with the central office were listed as follows:

conditions for the Popham home to keep little Clay cool, his condition hasn't worsened, and he hasn't had to be rushed to the hospital in recent days.

His mother said Tuesday the temperature around the home is kept at 64 degrees, and Clay Jr. is comfortable. Mr. and Mrs. Popham, and Clay's two-year-old sister, have to wear sweaters around the house and sleep under blankets while little Clay enjoys the sub-normal temperature dressed just in his diaper.

Meanwhile, just over $450.00 has been contributed to the cooperative Clay Popham Jr. Fund at the Cartersville Bank and the First National Bank to date, according to latest figures--and more is needed.

The funds were established when the plight of the Clay Popham family became known locally. The Pophams live on Chullo road near Euharlee.

At present, Mr. Popham is out of work due to exhaustion, Mrs. Popham is undergoing treatment and their two-year-old daughter is receiving treatment.

'Referendum possible in two months,' Mayor says

Mayor Jim Tutton said today that a referendum on the sale of beer here is "possible within two months," if enough valid names are received on petitions seeking the referendum.

The Board of Aldermen Monday night received a stack of petitions which representatives of the sponsoring Cartersville Ministerial Association said contained more than 1,200 names calling for a referendum. Approximately 1,000 names are necessary to require the referendum to be called.

The Mayor said Monday night that the list of names would be turned over to the Board of Registrars to determine if the signatures were valid--that is, if the persons who signed the petition were eligible to vote in the last regular election.

Mayor Tutton pointed out that if the referendum should pass, and the sale of beer prohibited, then all beer licenses--including that of private clubs--will be revoked.

"We plan to make the city as dry as a desert if it passes," he said.

He said also that both the Board of Aldermen and the Ministerial

Association had agreed to abide by the decision of the people, should a vote be held.

He re-stated his earlier position that he preferred leaving the city beer sales "status quo," with no beer sales in stores but in private clubs. This suggestion of the Mayor's was over-ruled by the Aldermen at an earlier meeting.

Beer sales have been legal in Cartersville and Bartow County for many years, but city and county officials have not been issuing licenses, Mayor Tutton said. The city began issuing licenses to individual stores and to wholesale outlets here in March.

"We had much more bootlegging then than we do now," the Mayor continued. "Not everybody could belong to the clubs. We are able to do a much better job of controlling beer sales now than we could then," he said.

PENDLEY HONORED - Robert A. Pendley of Greensboro, N.C. has been awarded a four-year Marshall Field - World Book College scholarship, which he will use to attend Emory University. department should answer calls outside the city limits to churches and schools regardless of whether or not the facilities were covered by city fire protection clauses. The aldermen also agreed that the city should assist neighboring towns (as they do Cartersville) in the event of a major fire.

A four-man delegation representing the Summer Hill Library Board told the Aldermen that original Urban Renewal plans in their area called for a library building. They pointed out that the old library facility on Summer Hill had been displaced and that no replacement building had been constructed. It was pointed out that, because of later changes in the urban renewal plans for the area, that no building is shown on present plans. Mayor Tutton asked that the groups request be investigated. City Manager Richard Barton told them that plans for a Neighborhood Facilities building include a research and reference library facility.

THE LACK of water pressure in Bel Air sub-division cropped up again in Council discussion, after W.D. Lyarla's request for water service. Lyarla currently has a home under construction in the sub-division.

The aldermen agreed to issue building permits for construction in Bel Air with a statement attached informing builders that city water service may not be forthcoming for several months.

Water system improvements--a storage tank facility, primarily--are planned to ease the low-pressure problem. Consideration of land purchase for the system Improvement was re-tabled at the Monday night meeting. It has been tabled since the council's March 11 meeting.

Council, in further action, amended the business license ordinance for shows, street carnivals and similar shows. Under the change provisions, showmen will pay a minimum of $50 and a maximum of $200 per day.

IN THE BID - ACCEPTANCE category, the Aldermen accepted a bid of $1,352.51 from William C. Meredith Co. for poles for the electric department; and Elec-Tel Supply's $4,240.14 bid on wire, clamps and line guards.

And the group heard J. I. Henderson say that residents living on Columbia Street not only have no street sign marker, but have found their street has been omitted from city street maps.

Dewey Bryson was named to succeed Walter Brooks on the Planning and Zoning Board. Brooks has submitted his resignation.

The Aldermen agreed to continue sponsorship of an annual dinner honoring employees who are retiring from city departments.

Alderman Marvin E. (Pete) Smith inquired "if the city had determined the cause of last week's water shortage. City Manager Barton said it is believed that "three firms began using large quantities of water" without prior notice to the city.

Smith also voiced his concern about unkempt vacant lots which will soon be growing up with grass and weeds. He said he thought the city should cut the grass, if the owner did not, and then send the property owner a bill.

NEW ELKS MANAGER

Johnson Succeeds Clemmer At Lodge

The Cartersville Elks Club accepted, with regret, the resignation of its club manager, William L. Clemmer, at a House Committee meeting held Wednesday night. Mr. Clemmer received a unanimous vote of thanks from the members of the committee for his service during the time he has been here.

At the same meeting, Walter A. Johnson, Jr., was appointed to succeed Mr. Clemmer.

"Mr. Clemmer assumed the duties of manager in February of this year and during this time has made a host of friends and supporters in the lodge," an Elks spokesman said.

Upon submitting his resignation, Mr. Clemmer made the following statement:

"It is with regret that I have submitted my resignation as club manager of the Cartersville Elks Lodge. I have enjoyed my associations with the members of the two house committees that have been in office during my tenure and appreciate all the consideration given me. It is only because of personal greater opportunities that I find myself obliged to leave."

"I wish to offer Walter Johnson, our new manager, the very best of success in his new office and feel confident that he will merit the responsibility placed in him," Mr. Clemmer said.

Walter Johnson, the new manager, is the oldest member of the Cartersville Elks' staff. He has been connected with the club since its inception in 1955.

NEW ELKS MANAGER-- Walter A. Johnson, Jr., above, has been named club manager at the Cartersville Elks Lodge.

"Members will recall with pleasure that on receiving his masters degree in 1950, Mr. Johnson, Sr., was the recipient of a congratulatory telegram signed by every member of the Lodge. This indicates the high esteem which Cartersville Elks have always held for members of the Johnson family," a Lodge spokesman said.

In his acceptance of the position, Mr. Johnson said to the House Committee: "I have for the past eight years appreciated the opportunity of working with the members of the Cartersville Elks Lodge. It is my hope that your confidence by offering this position to me will not be misused and I can assure you that

WHITE AND NEGRO LEADERS OF CARTERSVILLE PROVE AGAIN THAT COOPERATION DOES PAY HANDSOME DIVIDENDS

THE ABOVE PICTURE represents the transfer of title of the Negro Masonic Lodge building from the Cartersville-Bartow County Chamber of Commerce. The building, just completed in Summer Hill represents a perfect story of the results of cooperation between these groups. The Negro lodge for many years has owned a valuable site near the E-Z Mills plant. The Negroes were presented an offer, that if they would lend a cooperative hand, and let the C. of C. sponsor the building of a new lodge hall on a different site, it would assure a large expansion of manufacturing facilities at E-Z Mills. The Negroes entered actively into the cooperative plan—E-Z is extending facilities and the Negroes have a brand new meeting place. Those on hand Tuesday afternoon to congratulate the Negro lodge members are, left to right: Mayor Charles A. Cowan, Louis Jackson and Robert M. Stiles, representing the Chamber of Commerce; and Henry Ramsey, Gaines Jones, Early Billups, Ben Tompkins, Florence Childers, Marlissa Marshall, James Tench, Sr., and the Rev. M. V. Slocum. Kiwanians Hear Judge Ingram On Segregation

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday night, Judge W. A. Ingram spoke on the conditions, which now exist relative to the impending issue of segregation. Judge Ingram stated that he personally preferred point two of the choices we now have as indicated by the Sibley Committee. But, Judge Ingram continued, "I believe there is a plan that could be worked out to make it possible for school systems to operate locally, through certain grants, without destroying our public school system."

The speaker related very interesting comparisons between the trend of opinion in various areas of the state now as compared with the feeling that existed in those same areas when the issue of secession was voted on prior to the Civil War. "Essentially, the same percentage of votes was cast for secession in the southern part of the state as are now being indicated to the Sibley Committee as favoring continued segregation. In the northern part of Georgia the majority voted against secession. This is an interesting comparison as it shows a similarity of feeling now existing 100 years later," stated Judge Ingram.

Judge Ingram presented a very interesting plan which he believes might be the answer to preserving our free public school system.

In his closing remarks the speaker stated "no democracy has ever survived without free public school system. If the people of Georgia allow their schools to be shut down it will cause irreparable damage to the future of our children, our teachers and administrative personnel and the future of education in Georgia for years to come. Our teacher personnel will go elsewhere to find employment and conditions in general will be chaotic. We must not allow our free public schools to be closed."

President Jack Acree presided at the meeting. Kiwanian Walter Adams delivered the invocation after the singing of "America" which was led by Sheriff Frank Atwood. The meeting was closed with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

RAIN AND RELIGION

NASHVILLE (AP) — Visitation evangelism works better in bad

The Sears Roebuck Store was entered through a rear door which had been jimmied open, and Gurley's Jewelry Store was entered when the burglars removed the bars from a restroom window in the rear of the store.

Chief Dyar said the robberies apparently took place sometime before 4 AM Wednesday morning. A driver for the Sears store in Atlanta who was making a delivery discovered the robbery at Sears and notified the local police department. A check of other stores in town revealed the jewelry store robbery.

According to Miss Flora Culver, Sears store manager about $252 dollars was taken from a safe in her office. The heavy safe had been pulled away from its place against one wall and turned upside down. She added that muddy footprints indicated the culprits did not enter other parts of the store and that no merchandise or displays could be found missing. In the telephone order room, cigar boxes where employees keep pencils and other small items, had been rifled, and several customers' packages had been broken open. Miss Culver said the only thing apparently taken from the package was a pair of rubber gloves, which were later found near the safe. She added that one glove still had a cuff turned up, indicating the thieves might have worn them to avoid leaving fingerprints. Miss Culver said, when asked if the safe could be repaired, said she "would not trust the same safe again," because of the heavy damage caused when the burglars pried it open.

Miss Culver stated that this was not an unusual amount of cash to be left in the store overnight, but that the night depository at a bank is usually used.

According to Mr. Paul Gurley, owner of Gurley's Jewelry Store, the combination on his safe was broken off but not so heavily damaged as the Sears safe. Mr. Gurley said that as yet he could not estimate the amount of his loss since he had not had time to make a complete inventory. An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the safe, along with jewelry, watches and rings from the store. The burglars worked under lights which are left burning in the store throughout the night. Mr. Gurley added: He said "the store was as bright as day" and that the lights were still burning when he arrived at the store after hav-

The representatives speaking for Cartersville and Bartow County, R. M. Stiles, Mrs. Fred Knight, Sr., John Bridges, Mrs. Lamar Wade, Rev. Douglas Winn and R. V. Jones favored open schools and local option.

Rev. Rosamond Kay, Negro minister and retired teacher, favored keeping the laws of the land.

Men and women with opposing opinion were treated in a fair and courteous manner.

Various results of the closing of the schools were given by Mrs. Dan Collier, a prominent business woman of Dalton, who wanted open public schools not only for the sake of the children but also from an economic situation. She felt that business, all business would suffer if the schools were closed.

The opinion of the ministers who took the stand favored open public schools.

The majority of men and women did not hesitate to say that they were in favor of un-interrupted public schools.

Being congratulated by Judge Sibley for this fact the first of the kind that had been presented, so far, he asked Dr. Jones how many were present.

That fact that 23 members of the 500 on role were on hand when the resolution was passed, gave a humorous note to the closing minutes.

During Afternoon Session Of Hearing

Negro Witnesses Express Notably Different Views

The afternoon session Thursday of the hearing conducted at the Bartow county court house by chairman John A. Sibley of Atlanta for the legislative committee polling Georgia integration sentiment continued to evidence an opinion favoring Pupil Placement or local option.

However, quite a number of witnesses appearing from counties of the Seventh district expressed definite views to the effect that they would rather see schools closed than to start out on an integrated basis.

However, quite a number of witnesses appearing from counties of the Seventh district expressed definite views to the effect that they would rather see schools closed than to start out on an integrated basis.

A number of Negro witnesses were invited to take the stand and while one or two of them gave definite expressions favoring a change over to integrated schools, a number of Negro witnesses frankly admitted that they had been forced to come to the conclusion that in the South only segregated schools would be workable.

Impressions gained by a number of reporters around the press table agreed that the attitude of the Negro witnesses were surprising to say the least, because some of them admitted that and/or compelled them to testify their belief that their race had not reached the stage where if given an opportunity, the Negro had the ability to operate a public school system if it should be turned over to them.

Several Negro witnesses also declared that they did not know if mixed schools would be better for their race, because over the past 100 years segregation is all they have known.

Henry C. Canty well known Cartersville Negro appeared toward the close of the day's session, and said:

"Some of my people do not want the schools closed. Some of them want local option, some want the 1954 Supreme Court decision segregation ruling to become operative in Georgia schools."

Canty also said he felt personally though that "everyone should pray that the mighty scourge of segregation shall soon pass away."

Chairman Sibley was taken to task by a Negro witness, Rev. Jesse W. Cook, a Baptist minister of Marietta and who admitted that he is treasurer of the Marietta Branch of the NAACP, who urged Mr. Sibley not to pronounce the word Negro as "nigra" which Cook said sounded like Mr. Sibley was saying "nigger."

Mr. Sibley promptly assured the witness that he had no intention of saying anything that would hurt the feelings of the witness.

Quite a large array of witnesses appeared from all but two of the counties in the seventh district with Cobb and Floyd leading the list. The predominant sentiment was strongly in favor of either the Pupil Placement or local option.

Rev. Clemon Harris, a Negro pastor from Marietta where he said he had lived for nearly 50 years was emphatic when he made the following statement:

"I know that it is far better for all of our public schools to remain as they are today, because in my people are not yet qualified for any proposed integration program. Let's stop fussing and complaining, thank God that we live in such a blessed section as is our beloved southland, and all the while attempt to brighten the corner where we are." Harris further observed that he hoped that his independent opinion would serve to help his people and, at the same time, glorify God.

Harold Clotfelter, who is recognized as one of the most able of the younger business men of Rome appeared as representing the Parents Club of West Rome, a high school and he also gave a number of reports resulting from a personal poll he had conducted among business men of his town and section. Said he:

"I have found that an overwhelming majority—not less than 75 per cent favor either the pupil placement or local option, because none of us want closed schools."

W. F. Abernathy of Adairsville, was definite in his expression that segregated schools are the only kind that Georgians will ever tolerate, "because I feel strongly that the Negroes should be willing to stay in the place where God planned he should be found."

Mrs. Dan Collier of Dalton said she was "concerned about what would happen to the labor market if the schools were closed. We would not be able to get the quality of help we need."

Harold Mann, a Dalton insurance man, put it more bluntly. "I prefer the parent's choice. From the governor on down, if they don't give me that right, I'll see if I can retire them."

Another reason for local option was offered by an Acworth housewife, Mrs. Mary McCall.

"If you had been shut up during the icy weather with six school-aged kids..." Here she was interrupted by laughter.

"You've either got to raise funds for Milledgeville, or raise funds to run the schools," she added.

Kankukee Anderson, former GEA president, told the committee that "in Polk County, if a great public school system must be closed, we want to do it ourselves, not someone in Atlanta."

"The way to have the most segregated public education over Georgia for the longest period of time is to do it locally," he added.

On the segregation-at-any-costs side, James B. Glover, owner of the Glover Machine Works Co. in Cobb County, said private schools could work.

The best school, he said, "is a willing teacher at one end of log and an interested pupil at the other."

Oswell D. Wilson, representing the Cobb County White Citizens for Segregation, insisted that "the colored people wouldn't go along with pupil placement because they want total integration."

Pharmacist J. W. Ryan, the only witness to make it down from feed-in Walker County, declared that "the people of Georgia would be capitulating to an illegal decision" if they allowed integration.

Jack Phillips, representing the Polk County Farm Bureau, said his group is "in favor of segregation at any costs (and does not want) even token integration."

Mrs. Laura Shultz, of Cobb County was willing to close public schools to preserve segregation and "throw the key away if necessary."

The last witness of the afternoon was Mr. Willis Boyd of Adairsville who was given a cordial welcome to the witness stand because Chairman Sibley recognized him as an honored Bartow County School teacher and one who is widely recognized for his leadership through the years in Boy Scout activities.

It was a definite opinion of Mr. Boyd that the Pupil Placement plan is "wise, just and practical," while the very thought of closed schools cannot be countenanced by any Georgian who truly loves his state. Mr. Boyd is confident.

Chairman Sibley and members of the commission, all of whom were present except Howell Hollis, of Columbus who found it impossible to have a court case postponed in Muscogee Superior Court, were high in praise for the local officials who did so many things for their convenience and comfort while in Cartersville.

LaGrange is the site for the last hearing of the week, beginning in the Troup County Court-house Friday morning.

In two previous hearings the commission has heard mixed sentiment on the big issue. At Americus, witnesses were almost unwilling teacher at one end of schools if necessary to keep from integrating them.

At Washington in East Georgia, the study group found sentiment running about 50-50 on whether to put up to voters the alternatives of changing laws or planning to operate private schools.

NEGRO SENTIMENT

Several Negroes testified at earlier hearings. They complained that they alone are asked if they feel their race will fare better under a segregated system.

Vice chairman Homer Rankin insisted that no discrimination was intended with this line of questioning. He said general questions concern whether witnesses would prefer school closings and a system of private schools or a statewide vote.

He said Negroes have been asked an additional question about schooling for their race in an effort to really find their views.

Negro population in the 14-county 7th District ranges from a low of 2 per cent to a high of 48 per cent. Many Georgia counties have well over 80 per cent Negro population.

Vandiver Replies To Colored Advertisement

ATLANTA — Governor Ernest Vandiver issued the following statement today in regard to an advertisement which appeared in Atlanta newspapers this week:

ATLANTA — "I have read the 'PAID ADVERTISEMENT' purporting to come from 'students of the six affiliated institutions forming the Atlanta Institutions Center.' The statement was skillfully prepared.

Obviously, it was not written by students.

Regrettably, it had the same overtones which are usually found in anti-American propaganda pieces. It did not sound like it was prepared in any Georgia school of college; nor, in fact, did it read like it was written even in this country.

This left wing statement is calculated to breed dissatisfaction, discontent, discord and evil.

It is strange that this statement allegedly comes from a group receiving opportunities not enjoyed by most young people of both races.

For nearly a decade now salaries for Georgia teachers of both races have been equalized. New school plant facilities and school transportation facilities for Negro children have been provided. In many, many cases these buildings are better and more modern than provided for white children. It should be borne in mind too, that in those states with mixed schools, Negro teachers lose out.

Let it be further noted, that white taxpayers are paying over 80 per cent of the bill for Negro education in Georgia.

All Georgians are working diligently to increase and expand job opportunities for all of our people. In this way, and in this way only, can the standard of living and per capita income be raised to a level comparable to that of sister states.

"Human Rights" can come only through individual initiative and individual achievement, not by discord and strife.

"The rights, privileges, and joys of life" in this country are limited only by the imagination, and capability of the individual and his willingness to work for their attainment.

White or colored, the individual must strive for opportunity and acceptance in society. No group, acting through the use of any means, plan, artifice or device can achieve these objectives through the use of unorthodox and unacceptable methods. No group of persons utilizing the so-called "Sit-downs" in defiance of the rights of every man to conduct his business as he deems proper can accomplish anything. Nor can these demonstrations accomplish anything in defiance of the will and opinion of the great body of the people and through infringement on the rights of the majority.

All Georgians reject the implication and charge that our Capital City and our State is a land of "inequality and injustice."

In Atlanta, Georgia, there are more Negro property owners, more bankers, more insurance executives, more insurance companies, more doctors more lawyers, more real estate concerns and more Negro school teachers and more colleges than in any other city on the face of the earth.

This is a graphic illustration of the total and complete falsity and hypocrisy of the charges made in this irresponsible, "so-called" paid advertisement appearing in today's press.

As Governor of Georgia, I hereby call upon those who would cause hatred, strife, and discord in this State and the Capital City thereof to cease and desist in their efforts which can do much harm too all and can gain good for no one.

Local Option, Pupil Placement Plans Favored By Witnesses Here Thursday

During After

Legislative Committee Arranged For All Who Wanted To Be Heard

Pupil placement and local option were the two suggestions most often made by citizens from counties in the Seventh Congressional District appearing here Thursday before Legislative Education committee.

Before an overflow audience the hearings opened at 10 o'clock and when recess came at noon only witnesses from Bartow, Dade, Murray, Whitfield and Paulding counties had been heard.

Secretary John W. Greer announced for the committee that representatives from Floyd and Cobb counties would be given opportunity to express their views as the first order of business after the noon recess.

Chairman John A. Sibley opened the meeting by announcing the several options which school patrons are facing in Georgia. If the meeting with explanations of public schools are to be maintained henceforth.

Chairman Sibley pointed out that these plans with slight variations had enabled public schools to continue serving the boys and girls of North Carolina, Alabama, and Mississippi to mention only a few.

He added that the present situation in Oklahoma had become so critical for colored teachers that many of them had lost their jobs when integration became effective in all schools of that state.

Mr. Robert M. Stiles appearing as president of the Cartersville-Bartow County Chamber of Commerce, and speaking for a majority of the Board of Directors expressed the opinion that local people favored the so-called Pupil Placement or local option plans instead of closed schools.

Mrs. Fred W. Knight, Sr., appeared as a representative of the Georgia P. T. A. Association and of the 15th District Georgia P. T. A. groups. She read resolutions adopted by both groups and pointed out that they favored Pupil Placement or local option.

"I am convinced that the citizens of Georgia should have an opportunity to vote by secret ballot and by that method express their convictions on this issue. We do not want to see our schools closed," she added with emphasis.

John E. Bridges, who is chairman of the Cartersville School Board said he spoke as an individual and favored the local option plan.

Mrs. Lamar Wade of Taylorsville, President of the Bartow County Home Demonstration Council which is made up of 250 farm women, told the Commission members that she felt certain a majority of her fellow members favored the local option plan.

R. V. Jones appeared as a member of the Cartersville bar and as a business man to say that he felt certain all of the propaganda being spread over the state and nation is doing more harm than good.

"I believe the people should be given an opportunity as soon as possible to vote their convictions, and thus settle these questions once and for all," Mr. Jones declared.

Rev. Douglas Winn, rector of Ascension Episcopal Church said he was speaking for himself, Rev. Cecil Myers, pastor of the Sam Jones Methodist Church and Rev. J. W. Stonebraker, pastor of The First Presbyterian Church, both of whom agreed with him when he would urge the commission to recommend allowing the people of Georgia to vote on either local option or Pupil Placement, at the earliest possible date.

Rev. Rosamond Kay, a well known Negro leader, of Cartersville, who introduced himself as a minister and a retired school teacher said he had spent his life trying to be a worthy leader of his race. He said he believed the Supreme Court decision should be accepted as the law of the land and that all law-abiding people should

Good Humor And Friendly Spirit Prevail At Study Group Session

By MRS. WALTER S. ADAMS

What ever their sentiment regarding segregation or token integration, it was a good natured group of men and women who filled the Bartow County Court house to overflowing Thursday morning for the third session of the State School Study Commission.

Despite the icy roads they came from Haralson, Polk, Cobb, Murray, Dade, Paulding, Floyd and Walker, because of their interest in public schools and the education of their children.

Lawyers, public officials, doctors, T. A. officers, College Presidents, ministers, business men, school teachers, mothers, young people, daily laborers in general, negro citizens, many standing for hours, all intent on the proceedings, were present.

Newspaper people from all over the District were on hand and cameras clicked constantly. Certainly the proceedings were covered by the press representatives for all the papers published in the district and Atlanta.

Promptly at the stroke of 10 A. M. the gavel was sounded and the "hub-bub" of voices were silenced and the panel making up the study commission were introduced.

Judge Sibley gave a brief resume of the purpose of these public hearings, reminding the large audience of the importance of education in the lives of thousands of boys and girls in Georgia. He stated clearly the issue before the people of the State today—shall we in Georgia have open public schools or closed schools? He gave the conditions in which the public schools can continue to operate in this state.

A friendly spirit prevailed in all the proceedings and due to the good humor and fine manner of the last witness before Recess, She was introduced as the president of the Dallas P. T. A. but stressed the fact that she was appearing in a personal capacity to express the hope that the commission would recommend the adoption of the local option or Pupil Placement Program.

Judge Sibley, many remarks brought chuckles and laughs and sometime cheers.

If someone overstepped the limits of the questions the presiding officer was gracious but firm in reminding the speaker of the rules of the sessions.

But Dr. Jones prefaced his remarks with the statement that the church had taken action during the legislature when a large number were present, expressing this same opinion.

Negro Witnesses Express Notably Different Views

The afternoon session Thursday of the hearing conducted at the Bartow county court house by chairman John A. Sibley of Atlanta for the legislative committee polling Georgia integration sentiment continued to evidence an opinion favoring Pupil Placement or local option.

However, quite a number of witnesses appearing from counties of the Seventh district expressed definite views to the effect that they would rather see schools closed than to start out on an integrated basis.

A number of Negro witnesses were invited to take the stand and while one or two of them gave definite expressions, favoring a change over to integrated schools, a number of Negro witnesses frankly admitted that they had been forced to come to the conclusion that in the South only segregated schools would be workable.

Impressions gained by a number of reporters around the press table agreed that the attitude of the Negro witnesses were surprising to say the least, because some of them admitted that candor compelled them to testify their belief that their race had not reached the stage where if given an opportunity, the Negro had the ability to operate a public school system if it should be turned over to them.

Several Negro witnesses also declared that they did not know if mixed schools would be better for their race, because over the past 100 years segregation is all they have known.

Henry C. Canty well known Cartersville Negro appeared toward the close of the day's session, and said:

"Some of my people do not want the schools closed. Some of them want local option, some want the 1954 Supreme Court decision segregation ruling to become operative in Georgia schools."

Canty also said he felt personally though that "everyone should pray that the mighty scourge of segregation shall soon pass away."

Chairman Sibley was taken to task by a Negro witness, Rev. Jesse W. Cook, a Baptist minister of Marietta and who admitted that he is treasurer of the Marietta Branch of the NAACP, who urged Mr. Sibley not to pronounce the word Negro as "nigra" which Cook said sounded like Mr. Sibley was saying "nigger."

Mr. Sibley promptly assured the witness that he had no intention of saying anything that would hurt the feelings of the witness.

Quite a large array of witnesses appeared from all but two of the counties in the Seventh District with Cobb and Floyd leading the list. The predominant sentiment was strongly in favor of either the Pupil Placement or local option.

Rev. Clemon Harris, a Negro pastor from Marietta where he said he had lived for nearly 50 years was emphatic when he made the following statement:

"I know that it is far better for all of our public schools to remain as they are today, because my people are not yet qualified for any proposed integration program. Let's stop fussing and complaining, thank God that we live in such a blessed section as is our beloved southland, and all the while attempt to brighten the corner where we are." Harris further observed that he hoped that his independent opinion would serve to help his people and, at the same time, glorify God.

Harold Clatfelter, who is recognized as one of the most able of the younger business men of Rome appeared as representing the Par-

Press Meet By Talmadge

ATHENS (AP) — Because national publications are too interested in building circulation, they are not telling the real story behind the "new destiny for Dixie," former Gov. Herman Talmadge said Thursday.

Talmadge, now an Atlanta attorney, said the real story behind the South's tremendous progress has not been told outside the region.

He told a gathering for the 27th annual Georgia Press Institute that "popular reports of Southern advancement . . . either fail to take into account or ignore the dynamic new forces which are at work shaping a new destiny for Dixie."

"The casual reader of typical reports on 'The New South' too often is led to believe that the region is progressing in spite of itself," Talmadge asserted. Many publications are substituting sensationalism for the truth, he added, because they are "too preoccupied with building circulation and making money to let the truth stand in the way."

"We who live here in the South" know better, the former governor continued. "We know that the real story of Southern progress" lies in "years of intensive research" and "concerted action based upon what has been learned."

A new kind of political immorality is taking the place of the old-fashioned stealing by political bosses, Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, told the Institute Wednesday night.

"Modern, politically prudent politicians who withhold the worst of the facts because the voters somehow prefer it" have replaced the political bosses who used to seal and corrupt.

Voters in turn are apathetic and cast their ballots without any moral conviction and the result is "a new kind of political immorality," he said.

"Our political leaders are insecure and subject to intimidation. They will not stand for an unpopular truth for the good reason that the people will punish them for it."

"When we speak of lack of leadership what we mean is that our executives in municipal, state and national offices have lost the power and the political will to make decisions," he said. "This means that the independent man and woman are disappearing from our life."

Despite the flaws that contribute to the new political immorality, McGill expressed belief that the state of political morality in general has improved.

And this is the message I want you to get, I'm still a kickin' . . . but I ain't dead yet. My joints are stiff, won't move in their sockets,

And nary a dime is left in my pockets, So maybe you think I'm a total wreck.

(To tell you the truth, I do look like heck).

But still I have loads of fun And my heart with joy is over run, I've lots of friends, so kind, so sweet,

And many more I never meet. Oh, this is a wonderful world of ours,

Shade and sunshine, and beautiful flowers,

So you take it from me you bet, I'm glad I'm living . . . and I ain't dead yet.

I've got corns on my feet, and in-growing nails,

And do they hurt, here language fails;

To tell you my troubles would take too long,

If I tried you would give me the gong,

I go to church and Sunday school, too,

For I love the story that is ever new.

And when I reach the end of my row,

I hope to my Heavenly Home to go.

And when I leave my house of clay, If you listen closely, I'm apt to say,

Well, folks, I've left you, but don't forget,

I've just passed on . . . I AIN'T DEAD YET.

This wonderful spirit of Mrs. King's lifted before us, is a challenge to abundant living, regardless of age, problems or burdens.

Few Accidents In Bartow Yule

Five accidents occurred in the Cartersville State Patrol area over the Christmas holiday week end, and two local men were hospitalized for minor injuries, the state patrol said today.

D. C. Vernon, of Cartersville Route 3, was admitted to Howell-Quillian Clinic for treatment of a fractured left arm, and Roy McGill, also of Route 3, was treated for bruises of the legs and head, according to patrol accident reports.

The accident which hospitalized the two men happened 5.7 miles north of Cartersville over the week end when Vernon, driving a 1940 Ford, attempted to make a right turn into the Aubrey Mines Road and skidded into a power pole. Troopers said about $300 damages was done to the car.

E. F. Goss, of Kingston, driving a 1950 Dodge, collided with a vehicle driven by Joseph P. Marr, of Atco, near the Harden Bridge Road Wednesday. Both cars were damaged, and troopers said charges of falling to grant right of way, were lodged against Goss.

Roy Melvin Wilson, of Atlanta, was charged with reckless driving Friday, when his vehicle skidded into one driven by Eugene J. Connor, of Plainsville. The mishap occurred in Fairmount.

Two drivers were charged in an accident which happened near Calhoun Thursday, according to the patrol. From Page One tween Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican of Ohio, to which Taft brought a memorandum listing the major objectives which he felt should be followed by a Republican administration. Eisenhower approved this memorandum almost in toto and it has been Stevenson's contention ever since that by doing so the Republican candidate had surrendered to the Ohio senator in order to win his support in the campaign.
 Stevenson's main theme while speaking at Nashville was that, instead of being taken for granted by the Democratic party, the South had been well rewarded for its allegiance to the party in Washington. He read out a catalogue of congressional committee chairmen from the South and gave the names of the men who would replace them in the event of a Republican victory in the House and Senate in November.

"The suggestion that the South can obtain a national political influence only by bedding with the GOP runs squarely counter to the record," Stevenson said. "I would refer these latter day mugwumps to a roster of the United States Congress.

"I would suggest in particular a careful perusal of the list of committee chairmanships in both houses. And I would ask these gentlemen to explain just how the South would be better served: By Richard Nixon of California as presiding officer of the Senate rather than John Sparkman of Alabama; by Joe Martin of Massachusetts as speaker of the House rather than Sam Rayburn of Texas; by Senator Saltenstall of Massachusetts, rather than Senator Russell of Georgia as chairman of the armed services committee, and McCarthy of Wisconsin rather than McClellan of Arkansas on the expenditures committee; Alke of Vermont rather than Ellender of Louisiana on agriculture; Capehart of Indiana rather than Maybank of South Carolina on banking and currency."

MANAGER'S REPORT TOPS SESSION OF ALDERMEN

Things were back on an "even keel" at the Cartersville City Council meeting Monday evening in the wake of a statement prepared and delivered to councilmen by City Manager Riley Milam in answer to questions submitted to the council Sept. 29 by Alderman Norman Norris, requesting that City Manager Milam show cause why he should not submit his resignation.

Milam pointed out in his report that he had at all times attempted to remain aloft of the politics of the city, interesting himself only with civic improvements. He said that he had at all times made an honest effort to work with the council on all projects, giving freely of his time, knowledge and energy.

Milam pointed out the improvements which the city had made, citing several instances.

Alderman Charles A. Cowan pointed out to the council at the end of Milam's report that the motion which Norris had presented to the council was in effect not a matter of the secretary's records. Since parliamentary procedure rules that any motion which dies on the floor, cannot become a matter of record.

Cowan stated that the council had good reason to pat Milam on the back for some of the improvements which the city has enjoyed during the past few years.

Alderman Norris then replied that while his sentiments were that Milam has done a commendable job, he added: "I believe that the City Manager should give the council a full report on such matters which may come up from time to time."

Alderman Fowler Cook said that the city is out of the red for the first time in years in its fundamental operations which can be traced to the work of the City Manager.

Paul Layton stated that his sentiments were along the same lines of the other councilmen.

Mayor Sam Smith said that the city is proud to work with Milam, and has done so with success in the past.

Other matters of business were discussed. The city voted a resolution to aid in the fund raising campaign to raise some $72,000 for the construction of an athletic field at the Cartersville High School. Contributions are strictly from donors, and the city is in no way obligated, Mayor Smith said.

The council voted $25 to the Summer Hill library drive.

Councilmen discussed the need to restock present pipe stores, and a discussion of a power survey was aired.
